

Excel in Basketball Camp Legend

Sean Farnham

6'6" Forward

De La Salle High School, UCLA

Excel Career: Sean attended the Excel Camps when he was in junior high school. Sean was growing into the fine player he would become. His passion for the game was quite obvious and he was determined to make a mark in the game. Sean went on to play at De La Salle High School and played his greatest game in the State Finals at Arco Arena where he caught the eye of UCLA Coach Jim Harrick who recruited him to UCLA.

Career: Sean's unselfishness and commitment to the team was apparent at UCLA where he was a solid role player. He started in several games in his career and was always there to get a huge rebound or make a significant stop. Today, his passion for the game is evident in the huge impact he has made as a college broadcaster. He moved on from Fox West and is now working with ESPN where he broadcasts WCC and WAC games. Sean is a rising star in the Basketball World where his insight and commitment to the game is appreciated by coaches, players, and fans.
