

Excel in Basketball Camp Legend

Brent Smith

6'10" Center

De La Salle High School, University of Montana

Excel Career: Brent was one of the biggest players to ever compete at Excel. Brent had tremendous potential and worked very hard to fulfill it. One of the hardest workers in the Post Moves Station, he worked daily to develop and refine his skills. Brent went on to become a fine player at De La Salle High School.

Career: Brent was a late bloomer in high school but was solid enough to earn a scholarship to the University of Montana where his game really blossomed under Head Coach Blaine Taylor. The Grizzlies were picked to win the Big Sky in Brent's senior year, but unfortunately a broken foot sustained by Brent derailed their efforts. A monster rebounder with an outstanding shooting touch, Brent was a key factor in their participation in the N.I.T and the NCAA Playoffs. Brent was named the Most Inspirational player in the 1995-1996 season
